Working Waterfront Sea Grant Symposium

LEW GRIMM, DYC OWNER, PRESENTS THOUGHTS CONCERNING CHALLENGES OF WORKING ON THE WATERFRONT.

2015 Working Waterfront Sea Grant Symposium held in Richmond, Virginia included university and science based speakers. Lew Grimm, owner of DYC & CYS, was asked to attend the symposium and present his thoughts concerning challenges of maintaining a business on the waterfront. Lew spoke on how marina owners coordinate within governmental regulations and guidelines. Keeping the working waterfront accessible to boaters in a safe and environmentally healthy setting is DYC's objective. The 2015 symposium provided the opportunity for governmental marine science leaders to interact with marine service providers with an eye toward improving ways to meet public enjoyment of Virginia's waterways. ↓

Cummins Dealer Meeting

LEW & ONNA GRIMM WITH CUMMINS ATLANTIC MANAGER, JIM TAYLOR

Lew and Onna Grimm travelled to New Bern, NC to attend the two day Cummins Dealer annual meeting. Cummins factory and corporate leaders presented the most current information about Cummins engines, parts and service details. Ideas were exchanged to improve the overall experience as Cummins dealers provide customer service. "Consumers know that Cummins has a large over the road engine presence. The marine sector is booming as more boaters repower their existing vessels. Cummins marine is alive and well", said Cummins Atlantic V.P., Phil Bush. ↓

Pushing The Limits

LEW THATCHER ABOARD 'CATTITUDE'

Lew Thatcher is one of those boaters who always pushes the limits and totally enjoys his Catalina 320. Over the years 'Cattitude' has won regattas and also enjoyed victories during informal competitions. If you meet Lew and his crew, ask them how and why 'fast' is an understatement. Does this mean Lew never relaxes at anchor.... absolutely not. Time onboard 'Cattitude', whether moving or not, is time well spent. ↓

NEW ENGINE MAKES HAPPY BOATING

DYC helped a long time customer get his Allied 30 back in shape with a new engine. We retired his well used Westerbeke and replaced it with a new Yanmar 3YM30 and gear. Now he can focus on sailing instead of whether or not he'll be able to leave the dock. ↓

Bill Wier's Excellent Adventure

Bill Wier, S/V 'Fat Canary', C Dock at Deltaville Yachting Center, retired last year and began the 'Excellent Adventure'. Bill wrote:

'Here is a brief update of my great sailing adventure to the Bahamas. After working the boat down to Georgia last spring, my brother and I returned the day after Christmas to continue. We met with 2 engine issues that delayed our departure. A stuck acceleration lever which required the judicious use of a ball peen hammer, and low cooling water flow which required the removal of many hoses until we found the offending two inch fish stuck in a juncture before the raw water filter. Off we continued down the ICW, encountering many bridges. At Lake Worth we went outside to avoid 24 bridges between there and Ft. Lauderdale. We spent a week waiting for weather and ran out of time for my 'working' brother, who had to return to VCU. Two days later I left for a solo night crossing with a small weather window. It was an interesting and tiring 13 hours to arrival at West End. I slept all day... Since then I have made my way across the Little Bank via Mangrove Cay, Great Sale Cay, Powell Cay, Green Turtle Cay and now on tranquil Treasure Cay just kicking back, slowing down and trying the Bahamian beer 'Sands'. Life is good. Hope my wife will join me in February. Temps range from 65 to 78. Great sleeping weather and pleasant days. That's it for now.' ↓

HOPEFUL HERON AT FISH CLEANING AREA

Natural Surroundings at DYC

Deltaville Yachting Center works hard to encourage protection of our natural environment. As Middlesex County's first Virginia Clean Marina, DYC strives to provide ways that boaters can help keep the water clean. Boaters and DYC offices practice recycling of plastics, paper and cardboard by using the separate 'recycling' dumpster provided near the DYC boatel. Please notice the fishing line recycling bins located throughout DYC and add your line instead of discarding in dumpster. As part of the Keep America Beautiful campaign, we encourage you to throw your cigarette butts in black butt bins. The Living Shoreline between C & D dock, with native grasses, has grown enough that we are removing the protective stakes, knowing that boaters will stay off this natural erosion barrier when they enjoy the DYC picnic area. ↓

Thank You For Choosing Us Best of The Bay!

Boating brings people together. Boating helps people appreciate the beauty of God's creation. We are proud to encourage boating!

Once again we are humbled by your votes in Chesapeake Bay Magazine's Best of the Bay 2015 Survey. All of us at Deltaville Yachting Center and Chesapeake Yacht Sales enjoy what we do. We are appreciative of your choice to do business with us.

Some of you are slip and boatel customers, while others come to DYC for service or CYS for the sale of your boats. Many of you are cruisers who bless us with your business and your 'sea tales'. We are happy to know each of you.

Our focus is to help make boating fun by helping with all of your boating needs. Each year we try to improve how we provide for those needs. In 2014 DYC spent many man-weeks in technical training and customer service training. We invested heavily in updating specialty tools and equipment used in marine service. As always we continue to invest in maintenance of the marina and boatyard property.

DYC boaters' educational event topics for 2014 included safety, radio use, sailing techniques, Coast Guard Auxiliary Vessel Inspections and boat handling. DYC boating sponsorships for 2014 included The American Great Loop Association, The Deltaville Maritime Museum, The Hampton Snowbird Rendezvous, The Hampton Sunfish Challenge & Dinghy Race, The Chesapeake Mainship Group Rendezvous, The Turkey Shoot Regatta and The Leukemia Cup Regatta. It is a privilege to encourage the pleasure of boating by being part of these wonderfully organized events.

Thank you for your votes and thank you for enjoying your boats!

God Bless You, Lew and Onna Grimm, DYC & CYS Owners/Managers. ↓
